Notes

Foundations of English church beside present cathedral, outside door in existing cloister.

Left:
A view from the south across, and approximately at right angles to the place where the English foundations lie.

Below left:
A view taken from just outside the cloisters looking east, approximately along the east-west axis of the English church foundations.

Below:
A map, engraved on a plate just outside the cloister entrance, to the west of the foundations, showing the later Norman church (partly visible in the photographs) in red, with the English foundations beneath it
